

Quality Policy

AB Precision (Poole) Limited are committed to complying with and continually improving the effectiveness of our quality system to satisfy our organisation goals and the expectations and needs of our customers. Measurable quality objectives are established and reviewed to ensure that our customers requirements are fulfilled, on time, to specification and in the most cost effective manner.

Adherence to the quality system involves all of the Company's activities and employees. All employees are responsible for the quality of their own work and are committed to participate in the effective operation of the system.

Documented within our procedures are the requirements designed to ensure that the factors affecting the quality of our products and services are under control.

AB Precision ensures that all relevant personnel are competent through ongoing training and education.

The policies, systems and procedures defined in our quality system are based upon the requirements of BS EN ISO 9001, including TickIT, and Medical Device Directive 93/42/EEC.
